

For Shame !!!

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get what's good for the station owners.

Freedom of the press belongs to those who happen to own the press. And the FCC appears to applaud this !

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show that it's only a few rich people in this country that have a voice.

well, FCC ?
